HABS No.      Description

- WA-203-A-1    Copy photo of context view taken in 1917 looking east along Farragut Avenue, then called Main Street, showing construction of double tracking. On right is Building 78 with original smoke stack. Building 59 is visible as third building from left. This photograph was taken from a hill that was later cut away in order to expand the shipyard. See photo for original caption.
- HABS negative is a 4x5" copy negative made from a print in the collection of the Photographic Branch, Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, Bremerton, WA. Photographer unknown.
- WA-203-A-2    A 1993 "re-photograph" of the 1917 context view (WA-203-A-1) looking east along Farragut Avenue. Building 78 is the brick building on right. Building 59 (Pattern Shop) is the brick building on left side of street, just beyond the tallest modern building. The 1917 view was taken from a hill which was later removed. The 1993 view was taken from a lift at the estimated height/position of the former hill.
- WA-203-A-3    Context view includes Building 78 (second from left) and Building 59 (partially seen at right edge). Camera is pointed WSW along Farragut Avenue. Buildings on left side of street are, from left: Building 38, Building 78 and Building 431. Crane No. 80 is at Drydock No. 1. Buildings on right side of street are, from right: Building 59 (with porch posts) and Building 856 (two sections).
- WA-203-A-4    Elevation view of north side of Building 78.
- WA-203-A-5    Perspective view of NE corner and east side of Building 78.
- WA-203-A-6    Elevation view of east side of Building 78.
Drydock No. 1 is in foreground.
- WA-203-A-7    Detail of two door/window bays on east side of Building 78, including the main entrance on right.
- WA-203-A-8    Perspective view of NW corner and heavily obscured west side of Building 78. The long low building in front of Building 78 is Building 551.
